Decent Work Check 2019

Iftikhar Ahmad
WageIndicator started in 2001 to contribute to a more transparent labour market for workers and employers by publishing easily accessible information on a website. It collects, compares and shares labour market information through online and face-to-face surveys and desk research. It publishes the collected information on national websites, thereby serving as an online library for wage information, labour law, and career advice, both for workers/employees and employers. The WageIndicator websites and related communication activities reach out to millions of people on a monthly basis. The WageIndicator concept is owned by the independent, non-profit WageIndicator Foundation, established in 2003. The Foundation has offices in Amsterdam (HQ), Ahmedabad, Bratislava, Buenos Aires, Cape Town, Islamabad and Venice.

Many people contributed to the development of the Decent Work Check as a tool and to this Check for USA. Those who contributed to the development of tool include Paulien Osse, Kea Tijdens, Dirk Dragstra, Leontine Bijleveld, Egidio G. Vaz Raposo and Lorena Ponce De Leon. Iftikhar Ahmad later expanded the work to new topics in 2012-13. Daniela Ceccon, Huub Bouma, and Gunjan Pandya have supported the work by bringing it online through building and operating labour law database and linking it to the WageIndicator websites. Special thanks are due to the Islamabad team, which works on Decent Work Checks since 2012. The team currently comprises Iftikhar Ahmad (team leader), Ayesha Mir, Ayesha Ahmed, Shabana Malik and Aizaz Raoof Ali.

DECENT WORK QUESTIONNAIRE ...................................................................................................... 29
INTRODUCTION

Decent Work is the type of work for which all of us aspire. It is done under conditions where people are gainfully employed (and there exist adequate income and employment opportunities); social protection system (labour protection and social security) is fully developed and accessible to all; social dialogue and tripartism are promoted and encouraged; and rights at work, as specified in ILO Declaration on Fundamental principles and Rights at Work and Core ILO Conventions, are practiced, promoted and respected.

WageIndicator Foundation has been working, since late 2007, to raise awareness on workplace rights through a unique tool, i.e., Decent Work Check. The Decent Work Check considers different work aspects, which are deemed important in attaining "decent work". The work makes the rather abstract Conventions and legal texts tangible and measurable in practice.

The Decent Work Check employs a double comparison system. It first compares national laws with international labour standards and gives a score to the national regulations (happy or sad face). If national regulations in a country are not consistent with ILO conventions, it receives a sad face and its score decreases (and vice versa). It then allows workers to compare their on-ground situation with national regulations. Workers can compare their own score with national score and see whether their working conditions are consistent with national and international labour standards. The Check is based on de jure labour provisions, as found in the labour legislation.

Decent Work Check is useful both for employees and employers. It gives them knowledge, which is the first step towards any improvement. It informs employees of their rights at the workplace while simultaneously enlightening employers about their obligations. Decent Work Check is also useful for researchers, labour rights organizations conducting surveys on the situation of rights at work and general public wanting to know more about the world of work. WageIndicator teams, around the world, have found out that workers, small employers and even labour inspectors are not, sometimes, fully aware of the labour law. When you are informed - being a workers, self-employed, employee, employer, policy maker, labour inspector - there is a greater possibility that you ask for your rights (as a worker), you comply with rules (as an employer) and you strive to enforce these (as a labour inspector).

The work is relevant to the challenges posed to the future of work especially the effective enforcement of legislation in financially constrained states, rise of precarious employment and measuring the impact of regulatory regimes.

Currently, there are more than 100 countries for which a Decent Work Check is available here: www.decentworkcheck.org During 2019, the team aims to include at least 10 more countries, thus taking the number of countries with a Decent Work Check to 115!
Major Legislation on Employment and Labour

1. Fair Labour Standards Act, 1938
2. The Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN), 1988
3. Family and Medical Leave Act, 1993
5. Occupational Safety and Health Act, 1970
7. The Equal Pay Act, 1963
8. Title 29, Ch. XIV, Part 1604, Sec.11
9. Title 18 of US Code
ILO Conventions

Minimum wage: Convention 131 (1970)
Regular pay & wage protection: Conventions 95 (1949) and 117(1962)

USA has not ratified the Conventions 95, 117 & 131 only.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Conventions

The minimum wage must cover the living expenses of the employee and his/her family members. Moreover, it must relate reasonably to the general level of wages earned and the living standard of other social groups. Wages must be paid regularly on a daily, weekly, fortnightly or monthly basis.
Regulations on work and wages:
- Fair Labour Standards Act, 1938

Minimum Wage

The Federal minimum wage, effective from 24th July 2009, is $7.25/hour. State and Federal level minimum wage rates may differ however workers are entitled to the higher rate (whether it is state rate or the federal rate).

Regular Pay

Workers are entitled to their pay on a regular and timely basis. Employers can set the pay period on monthly or fortnightly basis.
ILO Conventions

Compensation overtime: Convention 01 (1919)
Night work: Convention 171 (1990)

USA has not ratified the Convention 01 & 171.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Conventions

Working overtime is to be avoided. Whenever it is unavoidable, extra compensation is at stake - minimally the basic hourly wage plus all additional benefits you are entitled to. In accordance with ILO Convention 1, overtime pay rate should not be less than one and a quarter times (125%) the regular rate.

Night work means all work which is performed during a period of not less than seven (07) consecutive hours, including the interval from midnight to 5 a.m. A night worker is a worker whose work requires performance of a substantial number of hours of night work which exceeds a specified limit (at least 3 hours). Convention 171 requires that night workers be compensated with reduced working time or higher pay or similar benefits. Similar provisions are found in the Night Work Recommendation No. 178 of 1990.

If a worker has to work on a national/religious holiday or a weekly rest day, he/she should be entitled to compensation. Not necessarily in the same week, provided that the right to a paid compensation is not.

If a worker has to work during the weekend, he/she should thereby acquire the right to a rest period of 24 uninterrupted hours instead. Not necessarily in the weekend, but at least in the course of the following week. Similarly, if a worker has to work on a public holiday, he/she must be given a compensatory holiday. A higher rate of pay for working on a public holiday or a weekly rest day does not take away the right to a holiday/rest.
Regulations on compensation:
- Fair Labour Standards Act, 1938

Overtime Compensation

In accordance with the section 207 of FLSA, if a non-exempt employee works beyond the stipulated working hours, i.e., 40 hours a week, he/she is entitled to an overtime pay that is one and a half times the regular rate of his ordinary pay (150% of the regular wage rate).

Night Work Compensation

There is no special pay premium for employees working overnight.

Compensatory Holidays / Rest Days

Compensatory rest of one and a half hours is available for each hour worked as overtime. However, there is no provision in the law requiring employers to grant compensatory holidays/rest days for working over weekend/public holidays.

Weekend / Public Holiday Work Compensation

There is no special pay premium for employees working over weekends/public holidays.
ILO Conventions

Convention 132 (1970) on Holidays with Pay Convention
Conventions 14 (1921), 47 (1935) and 106 (1957) for weekly rest days.
In addition, for several industries, different Conventions apply.

USA has not ratified the Conventions 14, 47, 106 & 132.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Conventions

An employee is entitled to at least 21 consecutive days of paid annual leave. National and religious holidays are not included. Collective agreements must provide at least one day of annual leave on full remuneration for every 17 days on which the employee worked or was entitled to be paid.

A worker should be entitled to paid leave during national and officially recognized public holidays.

Workers should enjoy a rest period of at least twenty-four consecutive hours in every 7-day period, i.e., a week.
Regulations on annual leave and holidays:
  ● Fair Labour Standards Act, 1938

Paid Vacation / Annual Leave

There is no provision in the federal law entitling workers to paid annual leave. No federal statutory provisions establishing an entitlement to public holidays identified.

Pay on Public Holidays

There is no provision in the federal law entitling workers to paid public holidays. However, keeping in view the beneficial nature of labour laws, it is assumed that that workers are paid for these days.

Weekly Rest Days

There is no general statutory provision on weekly rest. Workers are generally entitled to at least 24 hours of weekly rest.
Regulations on employment security:
- The Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN), 1988

Written Employment Particulars

There is no provision in the federal level US employment law which requires an employer to provide a written statement of particulars to a newly hired employee.

Fixed Term Contracts

American labour Law allows hiring fixed term contract workers for tasks of permanent nature.

Probation Period

No federal law fixes maximum duration of probation period. Employees working under a collective bargaining agreement usually have a probationary period of 30 to 90 days.

Notice Requirement

There is no requirement, under the law, to serve a notice before terminating an employee. However, notice requirement may be part of individual employment contract and collective bargaining agreement. The Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN), however requires 60-days' notice in writing regarding loss of employment due to a plant closing or mass layoff by an employer who employs 100 or more employees.

Severance Pay

There is no statutory right to severance or redundancy pay. This may be part of collective bargaining agreement.
ILO Conventions

Convention 156: Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention (1981)
Recommendation 165: Workers with Family Responsibilities (1981)

USA has not ratified the Conventions 156 & 165.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Convention

Paternity leave is for the new fathers around the time of childbirth and is usually of shorter duration.

Recommendation (No. 165) provides for parental leave as an option available to either parent to take long leave of absence (paid or unpaid) without resigning from work. Parental leave is usually taken once the maternity and paternity leave have been exhausted. For working parents, laws may define the portion of parental leave that has to be compulsorily taken by fathers or mothers.

Flexible Work Option for Parents / Work-Life Balance Recommendation 165 asks the employers to look into the measures for improving general working conditions through flexible work arrangements.
Regulations on family responsibilities:
- Family and Medical Leave Act, 1993

Paternity Leave

The above law provides for unpaid, but job protected, leave of 12 weeks in a 12-month period. This leave can be taken for the birth and care of a new born child.

Parental Leave

The above law provides for unpaid, but job protected, leave of 12 weeks in a 12-month period. This leave can be taken for the birth and care of a new born child.

Flexible Work Option for Parents / Work-Life Balance

With the employer’s permission, the maternity/paternity leave may be taken in blocks of time or by reducing the normal weekly or daily work schedule. However, part-time work or flex-time options are not provided under US employment law.
06/13 MATERNITY & WORK
Regulations on maternity and work:
- Family and Medical Leave Act, 1993
- The Pregnancy Discrimination Act, 1978

Free Medical Care

Insured workers are eligible for all types of hospitalization benefits.

No Harmful Work

There is a general provision in Occupational Safety and Health Act under which employers are required to provide their employees a workplace which is free of all work-related hazards.

Maternity Leave

Female employees are entitled to a maximum of twelve weeks (84 days) unpaid but job-protected maternity leave.

Income

The maternity leave is awarded without pay.

Protection from Dismissals

Under the FMLA, an employer can't dismiss or otherwise penalize an employee or threaten to do so because of maternity or adoption leave or intent to take leave. Similarly, under the Civil Rights Act and Pregnancy Discrimination Act, an employer with 15 or more employees cannot dismiss a pregnant employee because of her pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition.

Right to Return to Same Position

Workers have the right to return to same or equivalent position on conclusion of maternity or paternity leave.

Breastfeeding

Law requires employers to provide nursing breaks for new mothers in order express breast milk for nursing child.
Regulations on health and safety:
- Occupational Safety and Health Act, 1970

Employer Cares

Section 5 of above Act makes it obligatory on the employer to provide safe and healthy working environment to his employees.

Free Protection

An employer is required to provide free of cost personal protective equipment to protect employees from workplace hazards.

Training

In accordance with the Act, it is the responsibility of an employer to provide instruction, training and supervision as is necessary to ensure health and safety at work of his employees.

Labour Inspection System

The above act provides for an independent labour inspection system in the country. Occupational Safety and Health Administration inspects workplaces for compliance with occupational safety and health related provisions.
08/13 SICK LEAVE & EMPLOYMENT INJURY BENEFIT
Regulations on sick leave & Employment Injury Benefits:
Family and Medical Leave Act, 1993

Income

Workers are allowed 12 weeks of unpaid, but job-protected, leave if they are unable to work due to some serious health condition.

Medical Care

Medical benefits are available for insured workers.

Job Security

Workers have job security during the 12-week leave allowed under the FMLA.

Disability / Work Injury Benefit

Work injuries are divided into four categories: (i) permanent total incapacity (ii) permanent partial incapacity (iii) temporary incapacity and (iv) fatal injury leading to death of a worker.

In the case of permanent total incapacity/disability, amount of compensation paid is 66.6% of an insured worker's average earnings is paid for the duration of disability.

In the case of permanent partial disability, amount of compensation depends on the assessed degree of disability.

In the case of temporary disability, amount of compensation paid is 66.6% of an insured worker's average earnings. this benefit is paid after a waiting period of three to seven days. The benefits are paid until worker's full recovery or certification of permanent disability

In the case of fatal injury, dependents (widow/widower/minor children/parents/brothers and sisters) receive survivors' benefit. A widow(er) gets 35-70% of a deceased worker's earnings as benefit while widow(er) with dependent children gets 60-80% of deceased worker’s earnings.
Regulations on social security:
  • Social Security Act, 1935

Pension Rights

Above law provide for both full and reduced/early pension. For full pension, a worker must have attained 66 years of age with at least 40 quarters of coverage. A reduced pension is paid from age 62. The pension is based on the average of the insured’s 35 highest years of earnings indexed for past wage inflation, up to age 62. There is no minimum pension for workers reaching age 62 after 1981. The maximum pension in 2011 was $2,366.

Dependents' / Survivors' Benefit

The above laws provide for survivor benefit (these include dependents including widow, widower, children). The deceased worker must be a pensioner at the time of death or had at least 40 quarters of coverage. The pension is 100% of the deceased's primary insurance amount at the full retirement age. This pension ceases on remarriage before 60 years of age.

Unemployment Benefits

Unemployment benefits are provided to workers losing their jobs under no fault of their own. Unemployment benefit, usually 50% of an insured worker's earnings, are paid for 26 weeks. In states with high level of unemployment, federal law provides unemployment benefit for an additional 20 weeks of coverage.

Invalidity Benefits

The above acts provide for invalidity benefit in the case of non-occupational accident/injury/disease resulting into permanent invalidity. The pension is based on the insured's average covered earnings (indexed for past wage inflation) from age 21 up to the onset of disability, excluding up to five years of the lowest earnings. There is no minimum pension while maximum monthly pension for insured persons disabled at age 50 in 2010 is $2,485. The maximum pension for insured persons disabled at any other age is computed based on that age.
FAIR TREATMENT
Regulations on fair treatment:
- The Equal Pay Act, 1963
- Title 29, Ch. XIV, Part 1604, Sec.11

Equal Pay

The Equal Pay Act prohibits sex-based wage discrimination between men and women in the same establishment who perform jobs that require substantially equal skill, effort and responsibility under similar working conditions.

Sexual Harassment

Harassment on the basis of sex is a violation of section 703 of title VII. An employer is required to take all necessary steps to prevent sexual harassment from occurring. An employer is responsible for the acts of non-employees where employees were subjected to sexual harassment and the employer (i.e. supervisory employees, agents) failed to take immediate corrective action.

Non-Discrimination

Title VII of the Civil Rights Act prohibits employment discrimination based on race, colour, religion, sex and national origin. Later, other protected classes like "pregnancy, age, disability, genetic information, union membership".

Equal Choice of Profession

Women can work in the same industries as men. No restriction could be located in local laws.
ILO Conventions

Minimum Age: Convention 138 (1973)
Worst Forms of Child labour: Convention 182 (1999)

USA has ratified the Convention 182 only.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Conventions

At workplaces, children may not be forced to perform work that could harm their health and hampers their physical and mental development.

All children should be able to attend school. Once this is safeguarded, there is no objection against children performing light jobs between the ages of 12 and 14. The general minimum age is 15 years however developing countries may set this at 14 years. The minimum age for hazardous work, work that is likely to jeopardize the health, safety or morals of young persons, is 18 years. It can also be set at a lower level of 16 years under certain circumstances.

Children should not be employed in a work that is likely to harm the health, safety or morals of children. It is considered one of the worst forms of child labour. The minimum age for such hazardous work is 18 years.
Regulations on minors and youth:
  • Fair Labour Standards Act, 1938

Minimum Age for Employment

The minimum age for employment in most of the non-farm jobs is 16 years.

Minimum Age for Hazardous Work

Minimum age for hazardous occupations, as determined by Secretary Labour, is at least 18 years.
ILO Conventions

Forced labour: Conventions 29 (1930)
Abolition of Forced labour: Conventions 105 (1957)
Forced labour is the work one has to perform under threat of punishment: forfeiture of wages, dismissal, harassment or violence, even corporal punishment. Forced labour means violation of human rights.

USA has ratified the Convention 105 only.

Summary of Provisions under ILO Conventions

Except for certain cases, forced or compulsory labour (exacted under the threat of punishment and for which you may not have offered voluntarily) is prohibited.

Employers have to allow workers to look for work elsewhere. If a worker is looking for work elsewhere, he/she should not be shortened on wages or threatened with dismissal. (In the reverse cases, international law considers this as forced labour).

If the total working hours, inclusive of overtime exceed 56 hours per week, the worker is considered to be working under inhumane working conditions.
Regulations on forced labour:

- Title 18 of US Code

Prohibition on Forced and Compulsory Labor

In accordance with the section 1589 of Title 18 of US Code, forced or compulsory labour is a punishable offence.

Freedom to Change Jobs and Right to Quit

Workers have the right to change jobs (at-will employees). Employees with a contract may have notice requirements.
TRADE UNION
Regulations on trade unions:
- National Labour Relations Act, 1935

Freedom to Join and Form a Union

The right to freedom of association is enshrined in the constitution and provided under the NLRA (Section 7)

Freedom of Collective Bargaining

Workers are free to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing (section 7).

Right to Strike

Right to strike is provided under the law however the provision allowing employers to hire permanent replacement undermines the right to strike.

Your personal score tells how much your employer lives up to national legal standards regarding work. To calculate your DecentWorkCheck, you must accumulate 1 point for each YES answer marked. Then compare it with the values in Table below:

| USA | scored 31 times “YES” on 49 questions related to International Labour Standards |

If your score is between 1 - 18

This score is unbelievable! Does your employer know we live in the 21st century? Ask for your rights. If there is a union active in your company or branch of industry, join it and appeal for help.

If your score is between 19 - 38

As you can see, there is ample room for improvement. But please don't tackle all these issues at once. Start where it hurts most. In the meantime, notify your union or WageIndicator about your situation, so they may help to improve it. When sending an email to us, please be specific about your complaint and if possible name your employer as well. Also, try and find out if your company officially adheres to a code known as Corporate Social Responsibility. If they do, they should live up to at least ILO standards. If they don't adhere to such a code yet, they should. Many companies do by now. You may bring this up.

If your score is between 39 - 49

You're pretty much out of the danger zone. Your employer adheres to most of the existing labour laws and regulations. But there is always room for improvement. So next time you talk to management about your work conditions, prepare well and consult this DecentWorkCheck as a checklist.
